AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY ORDERED HOME IMMEDIATELY

ACTION TAKEN AS PROTEST AGAINST FRENCH PROGRAM

Will Entrain for Port of Embarkation at Once; Sail Within Fortnight.

SMALL FORCE AFFECTED

Slightly Over 1,000 Men on German Soil, the Activity Being Limited to City of Coblenz and Vicinity; Transport Ordered From New York.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The American troops were ordered home from the Rhine today by President Harding.

No official explanation of the order was forthcoming, but it was understood that the order was issued in protest against the French program of occupying the Ruhr valley, definite knowledge that withdrawal of American troops would be ordered if they did so.

The order contemplates immediate movement of the troops to Bremerhaven for embarkation. The transport ship St. Mihiel will leave New York within a day or two to pick them up. Whatever additional transportation may be needed will follow.

The only American army units to remain in Germany are attached to the Graves Registration Service. It is expected the St. Mihiel will reach the European port, finally selected for the embarkation, within eight days of her sailing. Movement of the American Army from the Rhine to the selected port will be made in the morning, by rail. One of the Major-General Allen to begin the evacuation went forward today.

The decision to withdraw the forces was announced after a conference of President Harding, Secretary Hughes and Secretary Weeks at the White House. Secretary Hughes was expected to have been in the city to see the President. The decision was a protest against the French government to carry out its reparations program. In the absence of official explanation the inference was that the withdrawal was a protest rather than a protest against an attempt to avoid any trouble with which the American forces might be threatened as a result of the French advance.

The American forces on the Rhine, which for some time have been confined to the city of Coblenz and immediate vicinity, comprise 107 officers and 1,080 men. It was stated in a Coblenz dispatch to the Associated Press January 7.

FRENCH EXPRESS REGRET OVER YANKS TROOP WITHDRAWAL

PARIS, Jan. 10.—French official circles express great regret this afternoon over the announcement that President Harding has ordered the withdrawal of the American forces in Germany, the news of which was given them by the Associated Press. The foreign office could furnish no expression for the government, as neither the American government nor Ambassador Jusserand had yet communicated the news.

AMERICAN TROOPS GLOOMY OVER WITHDRAWAL ORDERS

COBLENZ, Jan. 10.—The withdrawal order had not been received by American headquarters here up to the late afternoon but recent events had braced everyone for the news, which for the most part was received regretfully from a personal viewpoint, for both officers and men enjoy the Rhineland life.

The news given by the Paris office of the Associated Press over the telephone was received by the correspondent and quickly given Major General Allen, the commander-in-chief, and his staff and it circulated among the doughboys. The rank and file appeared to feel particularly gloom over the announcement for the French troops "have been rolling through the last few days and are still continuing to pass, making the men long for a little action themselves."

GIRL SAYS DR. M'KIN WAS MEMBER OF GROUP WHICH THREATENED HER

By Associated Press.

BASTROP, La., Jan. 10.—Addie May Hamilton, known as "Addie of the Klan," declared in the witness stand in the hearing today in the slaying of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards that she was forced to leave her home near Mer Rouge and was deported from the state by the "Ku Klux." She named Dr. B. M. McKinnon, former mayor of Mer Rouge, and "Pink" Kirkpatrick as two of the party of men who, she testified, came to her mother's home one night, took her away and put her aboard a train for Little Rock, Ark., the home of her sister.

She gave her age as 17. "Do you know positively that it was Dr. McKinnon and Kirkpatrick?" "Yes sir, I recognized Dr. McKinnon, who was masked, but he was the only one doing any talking. They came to the house, pulled their guns and told my mother that 'Addie will have to leave town tonight. My mother asked them what for. 'Because,' Dr. McKinnon said, 'Addie has been leading an immoral life.' My mother said, 'Why don't you send others away.' Dr. McKinnon said 'we are going to.' My mother got down on her knees and pleaded but they made me leave. They told her if she showed them to let her go out of the door they would 'blow' her off. They made me leave without my hat. Dr. McKinnon struck my mother when she made a final plea for me to be allowed to remain. My mother attempted to shove them out of the house but they began to hit her and to the depot. They put me in an automobile and Dr. McKinnon gave me $7 for my fare to Little Rock. He told me if I didn't catch the train I would be tarred and feathered the next day."

BARBECUE OF BEEF, BEAR, BUFFALO MARKS OKLAHOMA INAUGURAL

Hundred Thousand Persons Turn Out to Acclaim Governor J. C. Walton; Monster Parade.

By Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Jan. 10.—A smiling, happy, carefree crowd of more than 100,000 persons saw Governor J. C. Walton inducted into office yesterday at a public ceremony at the state fair grounds.

In a brief address, frequently interrupted by cheering and volleys of pistol shots, the new governor told members of the multitude they were his guests and bade them feel at home and to turn the occasion into one of merrymaking and feasting.

The actual inaugural ceremony today was a repetition of that of yesterday, when the governor took the oath before a joint session of the state legislature at the capitol.

Following the governor's brief address the cry went up that the barbecue was ready and at 1 o'clock service of the feast commenced.

It was a scene such as Oklahoma has never witnessed before. The throng formed in long lines before the serving stands as barbecue assistants began handing out great chunks of beef, buffalo, bear and reindeer meat. Bread slices and piled up high in certain places began to shrink under the onslaught.

The giant coffee urns, each holding 10,000 gallons and heated by a steam engine, likewise became the focus of the thousands who, as they received meat and bread, went on to complete their meal with a steaming cup of coffee.

The celebration at the fair grounds following a parade that moved across the city to the blare of bands, the shouts of oxen drivers, the cheers of tens of thousands of spectators and the cracking of pistols.

It was a parade that painted the picture as it moved slowly between these walls of packed humanity. Picturesque figures of the frontier days in leather-trimmed suits and white hats, Indians in war bonnets, astride ponies and riding in costly motor cars that hummed behind long lines of foot soldiers, bands of volunteer business firms and the "jazz bands" from the state university, all slipped by like a movie reel, blending the new and the old, the frontier and the settled country into one long, unbroken, living photograph of the youthful state celebrating the inauguration of its fifth governor.

Paradise of Departed Heroes.
The way in which the departed Scandinavian heroes passed their time in Valhalla, or in the palace of Odin, is described in several places in the Edda.
They have every day the pleasure of arming themselves, marshalling themselves in military order, engaging in battle, and being all cut to pieces; but when the stated hour of repair arrives their bodies are reunited, and they return on horseback safe to the hall of banquet, where they feed heartily on the flesh of a boar and drink beer out of the skulls of their enemies, until they are in a state of intoxication. Odin sits by himself at a parlor table. The heroes are served by the beautiful virgin named Valfrida, who officiates at their cupboards. But the pleasures of love do not enter at all into the joys of this extraordinary paradise.

Blue Heron Feeds on Fish.
Some persons call the great blue heron a "squawkbird," because of its peculiar call, which is a squawk. Others call it a "crane." It is more water-bird than crane, however, and feeds largely on fish.

In the spots from which he has not yet been driven by man and his numerous noises and methods of destruction, the heron is an industrious and patient hunter. He stalks silently about, or stands rigidly for long periods at a time watching his chances to make a swift and sure lunge with his beak for a frog, a fish, reptile, or even an occasional mouse.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look to your face—don't even wish to sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Tasty Pull

Honey is a more wholesome sweet for a child than sugar. I let my children have an old-fashioned taffy pull frequently—making the taffy of one cup of honey, one cup of sugar, one-third cup of cold water, and one teaspoonful of vanilla. The honey, sugar and water are boiled together, until a hard ball may be made in cold water. Then the vanilla is added and the mixture put in a buttered pan until cool enough to handle.

Mothers Advise Their Daughters to Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation

Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every afternoon. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I do not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Busch, Jr., 11 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.

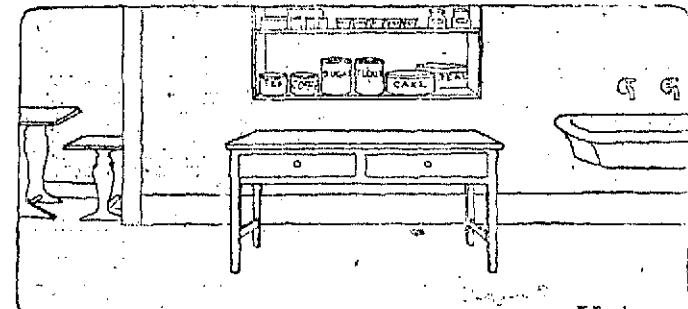

A Sickly Child

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is a healthy, happy, hearty, strong girl and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her 'gym' work, and she works at home every night and morning, too. I am a mother who can certainly praise your medicine, and if it will be of any benefit you may use this letter as a reference."—Mrs. George E. Wirtz, 621 W. Madison Ave., Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be healthy and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to do well in school and to enjoy herself at all times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for young girls just entering womanhood. Mothers may depend upon it. Remember it is prepared from roots and herbs, contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they will work in a healthy and normal manner. For nearly fifty years it has been used by women of all ages, and these women know its great value. Let it help your daughter and yourself.

PANTRY CAN BE USED AS BREAKFAST ALCOVE

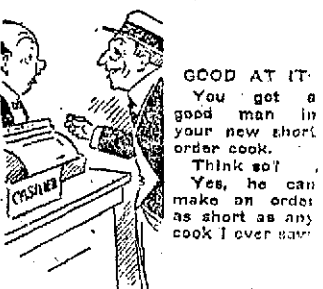

A large pantry converted into a breakfast alcove is a labor-saver in many ways. Not only does one save the steps required to serve meals in the dining room, but one's cooking utensils and materials are close at hand and shelves built above the kitchen table. The case of various sizes, painted white and labeled, hold various staples.

Jured this morning when a dynamite cap exploded in the hands of one of them. John Gast, a student, found a cap as he went to school. Arriving there he used his penknife to investigate it and the cap exploded.

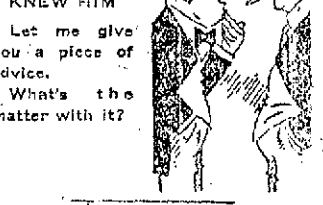

Harry Grove, 10 years old, lost the sight of his right eye and lost four fingers of one hand. The others were injured by flying fragments. Windows in the building were shattered.

TREASURE FOR NEW UKRAINIA

Six Governments Claim Four Hundred Million Marks.

WAS PROMISED BY GERMANY

Payment for Grain Deliveries Dates
Back to Treaty of Brest-Litovsk—
Germans Offered, Petlura Himself Is Still in Poland and Is a Close Friend of Pilsudski. He is a strong nationalist and a democrat. Before the war he was the editor of a little Russian newspaper in Moscow and became the minister of war when Ukrainian independence was declared, remaining until his disagreement with Skoropadsky.

He is still an advocate of independence for his country, and has a large following of intellectual democrats and a fair number of Ukrainian peasants. He enjoys to some extent the support of Poland as well as that of France. The Petlura "government" still keeps representatives in nearly all countries in hope of an ultimate restoration. Schulzgin remains in Paris, Smol-Shtolitski in Berlin and Sivinsky in Prague.

Another government which hopes to win in the award of gold marks from Germany is the present Ukrainian Soviet government, which maintains a trade commission, of which D. B.
Aussem is chairman, in Berlin. Khan-koff has been made the Soviet capital of the country with the Bulgarian, Rikovsky, as the most important of its official representatives. The influence of Moscow predominates at Khanikoff, although there is an increasing counter current in the Ukrainian Communist party for independent action.

Skoropadsky, too, still nourishes hopes in Berlin that he may some time return to power and thus come within sight of the golden prize. Recently he has been making friendly overtures toward the Petlura groups. His only supporters, however, are former large land owners and rich peasants, so that he is not likely to win a popular movement.

Galicians Claim the Pot.
Another "government" consists of the Galician-Ukrainians, with headquarters in Prague. They claim to constitute the real government of a western Galician republic. There is also a monarchistic movement which aims at the independence of the Ukraine. The leader of the movement and pretender to the Ukrainian throne is Wilhelm, son of the Austrian Archduke Karl, Stephan, who has taken the name of Vassili Vyschyvany. He holds sway over his "court" in Vienna,
where he has a small but enthusiastic following of Galicians and Little Russians. He has strong support in papal circles, and, of course, that of the Austrian monarchists.

The last of the aspirants for the double prize of the pot of gold and the control of Ukraine are members of a party which stands for a unified Russia. They declare Ukrainian independence both impossible and impractical, and point out the advantages of prosperity and protection such a union would bring. The supporters of the movement, in addition to workers in the Ukraine who are members of the Russian labor organization, are mostly intellectuals. They, too, have their representatives abroad disseminating propaganda for the union of the vast, rich lands of Ukraine where in rests the end of the rainbow where the 400,000,000 marks in gold which Germany, in case the millionaires
arrive, may pay some day.

All of these movements rightly see a prosperous future for the rich grain lands which comprise their land. But the present is cold and hard, and their immediate claim in Berlin is toward
the 400,000,000 marks in gold which the German government owes somebody.

Both Austria and Germany before the war encouraged regionalism in the Ukraine, but it was not until the revolution that propaganda for it could be made openly in Little Russia. When Krasny became dominant some of the people made demands for autonomy.
Korotkiy had his hands full with other matters, so that there was but slight opposition when the Ukrainian "Reds" set itself up as a new republic.

Then came the rise of the Bolsheviks.
The Entente representatives in Kiev refused to offer recognition to the Reds, thus giving recognition to the de facto republic even before Germany did so. This happened when the Red government decided to chastise Little Russia severely for presumptuousness and occupied the historic "Mother of Russian Chiefs," Kiev.

Germany Set Up Hetman.
The self-styled republic, having signed the treaty of Brest-Litovsk, felt that Germany owed something in return and called loudly for help. Germany responded, and after driving the Reds back across the Dnieper set up a hand-picked government of its own in which land owners were allowed to participate. General Skoropadsky was chosen "Hetman" of the republic and he became the holder of a first class
in the gold digging expedition.

From that time on claims to the gold began to arrive everywhere. By an unfortunate threat to arrest his Minister of War Petlura, Skoropadsky started the merry-go-round of changing governments. Petlura retired from Kiev, gathered 500,000 followers about him and made a successful assault up
the city. When it fell Skoropadsky, bandaged from head to foot at the German embassy like a wounded soldier, barely escaped with his life in a hospital train.

Petlura's directorate, however, remained in power only during the winter of 1918, when the Bolsheviks invaded the Ukraine. He managed to link his troops together, however, and engaged in a double struggle with the Bolsheviks on one hand and the Poles, led by General Haller, on the other.
In the spring of 1920 Petlura decided to pick the lesser of two evils and made peace with the Poles. For a time it looked as though he might be able to get back control of his government through joining with the Poles.
But luck was against him. The command Polish-Ukrainian dash to Kiev was a brilliant success for a short time, and then began the disaster which the Bolsheviks swept over all Ukraine almost to the gates of Warsaw. Besides, by his peace with Poland Petlura incurred the enmity of the Galician Ukrainians, sworn enemies of Poland. These harassed Petlura until the Poles turned and drove the leaders over into Czechoslovakia.

Peace With Soviet.
Then came another blow to the Ukrainian leader. The Poles concluded peace with Soviet Russia, leaving Petlura high and dry. His army with the Russian troops of Smolensk, who had been fighting with him, was interred. The Ukraine became virtually Soviet Russian state.
Petlura's armies, however, remained intact, thus placing him in the position of being the only remaining Ukrainian leader who could take up arms against the Bolsheviks if occasion offered. Petlura himself is still in Poland and is a close friend of Pilsudski. He is a strong nationalist

and a democrat. Before the war he was the editor of a little Russian

National Home Beautifying Movement Represented HereNational Award Winners on Display at Aaron Furniture Store.

EMBRACES FREE SERVICE

Connellsville has been honored by the selection of Aaron's as one of the limited number of Authorized Exhibitors of the nation's award winning furniture models. This honor is conferred only upon dealers of the highest repute in representative communities of the United States.

This means, according to Meyer Aaron, that residents of Connellsville will be given the opportunity to view each month in the establishment of Aaron's a fresh and exclusive assemblage of authoritative designs in furnishings for the home. The furniture comprising each exhibit will include a variety of complete sets and single pieces, selected by recognized experts under the auspices of a national organization—The Home Furnishing Styles Association of America—as examples of excellence in design and workmanship, and intelligent adaptation to modern requirements of beauty and convenience.

To visit and study these exhibitions will be of inestimable value to the home lover in assisting her to form standards of judgment in respect to quality of designs and ornamental construction, finish, and price. And it will demonstrate that furniture comprising good taste, attractiveness, and durability, can be produced and sold at a moderate cost. Indeed, it is precisely upon these qualifications that the "Triple Guarantee" of the Home Furnishing Styles Association is awarded to the models in question, each piece of furniture being branded with the "Triple Guarantee," a grand mark. This signifies not only that it carries the combined warranty of the Association, the makers, and the place, but also that instead of being in expression of a momentary and fleeting fashion, soon to become utterly passe like the craze of "black and white" (wall treatment and furniture) so popular a few seasons ago, it is a creation based on the same eternal laws of line, proportion and contour which make an Italian Renaissance cabinet or a Chippendale or Hepplewhite chair as beautiful and desirable today as when originally produced.

It is stated further that while the monthly exhibits of furniture will be held at the same time throughout the country, at the same prices, by all authorized exhibitors, the restriction of franchises to dealers of the highest standing, in those communities alone in which high standards of home furnishing are known to prevail, will automatically limit the number of sets or pieces of any one design, just as with limited, autographed editions of choice books. The fortunate possessors of such furniture may therefore look upon it with pride as a treasure to be handed down to the coming generation, for it is hardly an exaggeration to say that Triple Guarantee furniture itself consists of "autographed editions," since each piece is stamped with the Association's official identification marking and is built to last.

The personnel of the Home Furnishing Styles Association is composed of an independent group of trained experts who because of their freedom from commercial affiliations, are able to exercise absolute control over Triple Guarantee models, thus rendering them exclusive to guide, and to establish a fair and uniform price. Thus the Triple Guarantee brand becomes a grade-mark certifying to a definite quality and value, just as does the "sterling" mark on silver.

In the monthly exhibitions at Aaron's store, the exclusive Triple Guarantee models will be displayed in settings as approximating as closely as possible actual home interiors, and not only will Connellsville housewives thus be enabled to study the various pieces to the best possible advantage, but they will discover in the settings themselves many clever ideas and suggestions which can be adapted for their own use.

The activities of the Home Furnishing Styles Association of America include a monthly magazine known as "Home Furnishing Styles," a publication dedicated to the art of home beautifying. This handsome book, along with interesting and instructive articles and pictures also reproduces in artistic grace, illustrates simple and inexpensive room interiors made up of the national award winning Triple Guarantee models. Copies of this national dollar a copy magazine are on display at Aaron's and will aid considerably in suggesting ideas to the home lover.

Finally, the Association conducts through its Authorized Exhibitors a home beautifying service that will help the public in most any problem of decorating the home. This service is conducted without charge and is extended to the American public by the Association and to the people of Connellsville through Aaron's, the Authorized Exhibitor, without any obligation whatever.

The genuine service offered to the public by both the Association and the Authorized Exhibitor will undoubtedly appeal strongly to those folks who for years have realized the shortage of information on the subject of home beautifying and the expense and lack of complete cooperation in planning artistic home settings.—Advertisement.

At the Theatres

THE BOSSON.

GRANDMA'S BOY, Harold Lloyd's great comedy success, has attracted the largest crowds in the history of this theatre. Tonight will mark the final showing of the picture and the many admirers of the popular screen comedian who have not already witnessed the production should attend the performance tonight. Mr. Lloyd is soon as a young man striving to be brave and failing at every turn, always in a ludicrous way, of course. Grandpa tells him of how his Grandfather, overcome cowardice with a good luck charm. She gives the charm to the boy, who goes out and, with the confidence borne of possessing the charm, looks his small world to a frazzle. He finds that self-confidence is the secret of courage, and he wins his final and greatest battle—the heart of the girl—in a manner that leaves the audience laughing hysterically long after "The End" is flashed on the screen. It's a laughter wallop with a knockout punch.

Thursday Friday and Saturday "West of Chicago," starring Charles Jones will be shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"FREEDOM'S MOTHS," showing today and tomorrow, presents Audrey Munson in the stellar role "Freedom's Moths," which depicts in absolute faithfulness the absorbing, fascinating story of her own life in the innermost shrines of art's realm, and her associations and experiences with the world's most noted artists. The life-story of Miss Munson, whose far-famed beautiful body has been immortalized in bronze, marble and oils by nearly every famous sculptor and artist, is in itself so remarkable and colorful a story, as to make the imaginative efforts of the most brilliant writer for the screen. An all-star cast supports Miss Munson, including Holmes E. Horbert, Mrs. De Wolf Hopper, Irma Harrison, Ware Crane, Tom Burroughs, Frank Kingdon and others.

THE ORPHEUM.

"BURNING SANDS," showing today at this theatre, is a Paramount picture with Milton Sills and Wanda Hawley in the stellar roles. The picture has attracted record-breaking crowds at all performances. It has been summed up as "man's answer to Edith Piaf." "The Sheikh" and is filled with swift dramatic action, heart appeal and color. The opinion is freely expressed that the photograph is equal in drama and appeal to "The Sheikh." It is a beautiful Arabian romance of the Great Desert, filled with love and a powerful story of a Dargah girl who seeks the man she loves and makes him love her. As in the case of "The Sheikh," the one who sought love triumphed. Miss Hawley is the girl and Mr. Sills the man, and there is a powerful supporting cast. Mr. Sills has the part of a philosopher who believes that a man's first duty is to conquer himself with his books in an oasis in the Sahara Desert. Love comes to him there, and after a long struggle against it, he succumbs.

Ethel Clayton will be seen Thursday in "The Cradle," a Paramount picture.

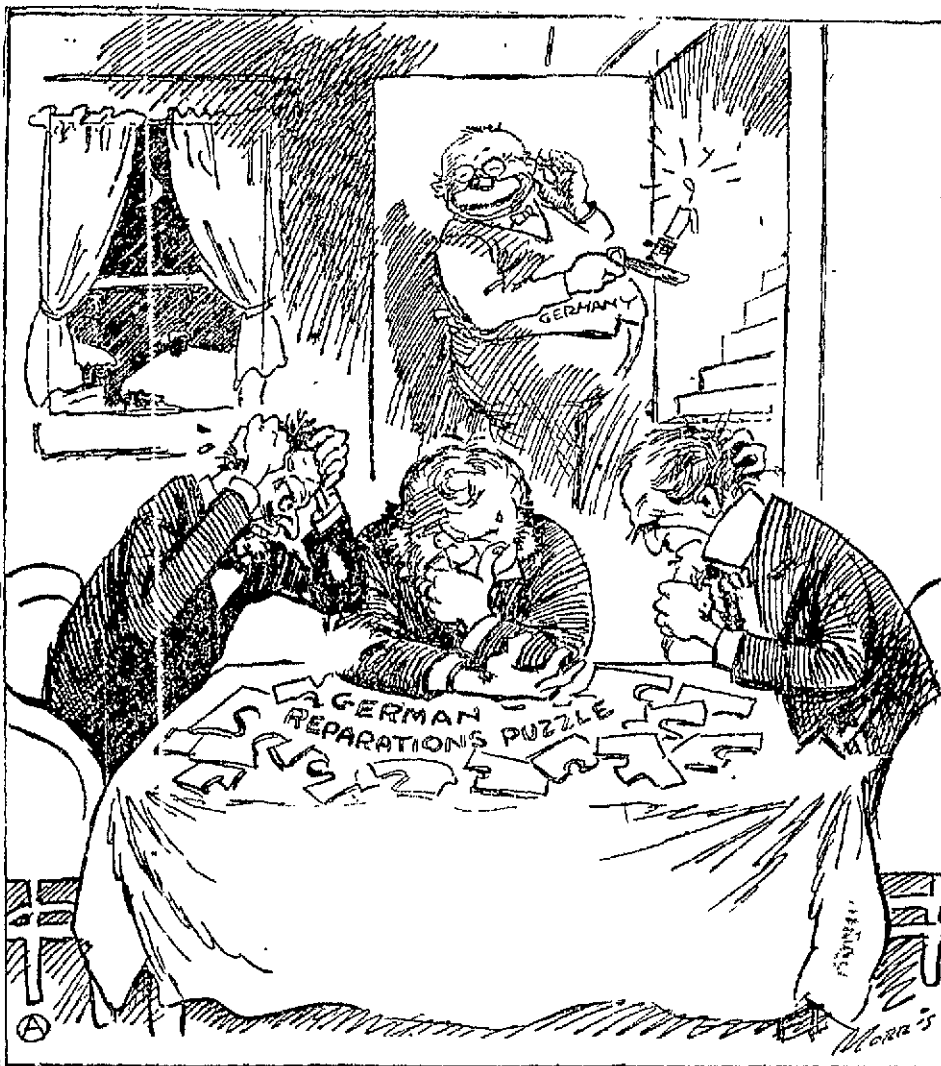

Old Timer Is Back

"My friends had all given up and never expected to see me around again. I had given up hoping myself, as no medicine touched my case. The doctors had tried everything with food, but I didn't digest and I was gas. My brother in Philadelphia wrote me to try May's Wonderful Remedy. The first dose gave me wonderful relief and I am now as well as I ever was and feel thirty years younger." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Exchange 1918 War Savings Stamps
For Treasury Savings Certificates

COLUMBUS, O. — (Special) — Look up your War Savings Stamps of the 1918 issue, bearing a picture of George Washington and green in color. All such stamps are now being redeemed by the Treasury Department of the United States, as they have run their full course of five years. The stamps may be exchanged at any financial institution or post office for the new Treasury Savings Certificates immediately. The government, however, will not redeem them in cash until Jan. 1.

Treasury Department figures show that there are $20,000,000 worth of War Savings Stamps held by the people of the Fourth Federal Reserve District. Many of these have been hidden away and perhaps the holders have forgotten about them, so that if you have any recollection of ever buying War Savings Stamps, it would pay you to look them up at this time and see if you own any of the 1918 issue. However, only the green stamps bearing the picture of George Washington are up for redemption at this time.

Beware of Fake Stocks. War Savings Stamps of the 1918 issue will be accepted at Five Dollars each, face value, in exchange for Treasury Savings Certificates, which will mature five years from Jan. 1, 1923. In the event that the holder of War Savings Stamps does not wish to redeem them with the government,

ONLY ONE USE FOR MONEY

Navaho Indians Quite Unable to See Any Virtue in the Practice of Saving.

What is money for if it is not to spend? The Navaho Indian does not seem to know. It is true, as Mr. Anne Neil remarks in Travel, that he drives a close bargain over his blankets, yet as soon as his sales are ended he rushes to the trading post. He will never be a millionaire.

Only one shining dollar now remained of his little pile with which he bought tobacco and candy and then rode off, smiling and happy, with his treasures. I remarked to Tall Fellow, my companion, that his tribesman was rather reckless to spend his money as fast as he got it, but Tall Fellow, who was fondling a precious, newly purchased string of beads, only smiled. "Pshaw," he explained, "they are to trade with. No good keep."—Youth's Companion.

NOT A "HIGHBROW" AUDIENCE

Lecturer's Story Reflects on the Culture of Early Days of the West.

A distinguished lecturer once told a story of an engagement he had made to deliver a discourse in one of the towns of the early West on the subject of the "Reasons for the Decline of Civilization." "I reached the place," he said, "a little behind time and went directly to the hall. A large audience had assembled. I was introduced in due course by the president of the literary society under whose auspices I was to appear, and laying my manuscript on the desk before me I opened it and waited a moment for the applause to subside. Imagine my horror when I found that I had accidentally brought along the wrong lecture—one on the 'Wonders of Modern Electrical Science.'"

"What did you do?" asked one of the group to whom he was narrating the incident.

"I went right ahead," he replied. "The audience didn't know the difference."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Legend of Monkey-Faced God. The Hindus have a legend that Hanuman, the monkey-faced god, helped rescue the wife of the divine hero Rama from a demon. Another legend is that Hanuman brought men a stolen gift, the mango, a valued Indian fruit. For this theft the monkey was condemned to death by fire, but it escaped with its hands, feet and back burned, and these have been black ever since.

The Naqman monkey in his native land is a privileged being. In some Hindu communities these monkeys live in the top stories of the homes of the natives. If one native bears an other a grudge he places rice or corn on the monkey's roof during the rainy season. When the monkeys see this they eat the grain that is within reach, then tear up the tiles of the roof to secure the particles which have fallen into the crevices, so the house is opened to the rain.

Bird Has Bill Larger Than Head. The toucan, which is most abundant in the Amazon valley, but species of which are found in Central America and Mexico, is a bird freak. It has an enormous bill larger than its head.

The black and green plumage is marked with white, orange, red or blue; and the eye with a double iris of green and yellow, has a broad black orbit, and is surrounded with a patch of bare orange skin. The bird feeds on insects and reptiles and also eats bananae, and oranges, often doing great damage to orange orchards. Its nest is in a hollow tree; its eggs are white, and

A home is more than four walls and a door. It is a mirror of the occupant's ambitions, character and accomplishments. It is a refuge from the trials and struggles of the outer world. Anyone can tack four walls together, terior appearance, taken a greater interest still in the interior arrangement, and this home in that respect is ideal. The arrangement is convenient and comfortable, maintaining housework. The house is 30 feet wide and 41 feet long and can be erected on a comparatively narrow lot. From the porch one enters the living room which is 13 by 17 feet. It is well lighted with a window opening on the porch and one at the side. Directly ahead is the dining room with three windows and three entrances. It is large and comfortable, being 17 by 15 feet. The dining room opens into the kitchen, and also the hall. A screened porch is located at the rear of this side of the house, as are the steps leading to the cellar.

On the other side of the first floor are two bedrooms and a pantry. The bedroom at the front of the house is entered from the living room and could be converted into an excellent library, office or sewing room. It is 13 by 11 feet 8 inches and has one large closet and two windows, one facing on the porch. From the living room you go put up partitions, throw on a roof and call the thing a "house."

But building a home is an entirely different matter. Your home means more to you than everything else in life, for you work each day that you may enjoy its comforts at night as you work each day. That you may deserve it. Because home is such a closely related part of you—you constant companion—it should be attractive, cozy, comfortable and a place that you look forward with pleasure to going to. It should be a place that you are proud to point out as your home and as a set to your community.

Such a home that will meet all these requirements is shown in the accompanying illustration. Here is an attractive two-story eight-room house designed along bungalow lines with a substantial appearance and can be built very reasonably.

Because building conditions vary in different localities it is impossible to say exactly what this home will cost, but your local contractor, architect or professional builder can quote you estimates which should make it quite economical, as the materials used are all of the best type, there being no odd or freak designs in the plans.

Thoroughly American in architecture and distinct in its every detail, the exterior gives the general effect of exclusiveness and beauty that is so hard to get and so seldom seen in ordinary homes. Its features are not composed of novelties that come and go, but are made up of the careful touches that have stood the test with home builders for many years.

through the hall to enter the second bedroom which is 10 by 11 feet 6 inches, and has one closet and two windows, permitting excellent ventilation. There is also an additional closet in the hall that might be used for keeping linen or whatever else the housewife might wish to use it for. The stairs leading to the second floor are in the hall and are located between the two first-floor bedrooms. They lead on to another hall upstairs. The bedrooms, two 13 by 12 feet and one 14 by 13 feet and the bath, occupy this second floor. All the rooms and bath are entered directly from the hall, making an ideal arrangement.

For the builder who is seeking a home with plenty of room but wishes a bungalow style of architecture, this house is ideally suited for him.

On Pleasure Bent.

The minister of our church was also the secretary and treasurer and at the end of the quarter came for the collection of church dues.

He came to the door one day just as I was getting ready to go to town. I did not have much change, and wishing to keep what I had and also to get away as quickly as possible, I met him at the door and started to apologize for not being able to pay him. He explained that he had not called to collect dues, but to visit with me, and then my tardy invitation to "come in" was accepted.—Chicago Tribune.

Long Syllables.

It has been reported that a word of 232 syllables has been found in the Sanskrit. This is obviously quite an improvement on Aristophanes' coined word of 77 syllables, and completely outdistances the English compound "uncomfortableness." Outside of the unique place these monstrosities occupy in the economy of languages, it is to be remembered that the admittance of such words is a sign of a lowly little English word of but one syllable—"No." Try them, and see.

The Connellsville High School football team registered a decisive victory over Latrobe 18-0 last night and evened up its standing in the W. P. A. League. The Cokers have now lost one game and won one.

Connellsville did not get off with its usual speed owing to the fact that the teams were uniforms so nearly alike it was somewhat confusing. After the first period, however, the Connellsville defense proved its worth. Of the 25 points registered by Latrobe 20 of them were over the free line—Kelley being in good shape.

The next game on the Connellsville schedule will be Friday evening at Indiana. The game is also scheduled for the league Saturday morning plays here. The latter game is independent of the league contests.

TALK OF FLOOR FANS INDICATES INTEREST IN NEW CITY LEAGUE

With the first step taken towards actual formation of the City League, fans are finally becoming real interested in basketball games at the High School. There have been attracting crowds and the revival of the game in a local league will add impetus to the sport already taken.

Faster teams than those of last season will participate if present indications are to be correctly viewed. There will be new faces in every lineup but it will not take long for a fan to become acquainted.

There is generally a sprinkling of High School varsity men added to the league each season but only one player graduated last year and he, Solson, is playing with the Caney Club.

It is hard to select a team that is likely to prove a weak member of the City League.

Uniontown's League is not enjoying support this season. Fans are impatient to keep the game going so that Connellsville "cannot" give up the "how-how" Connellsville fans are not likely to do any laughing until it is seen how their own league fares for support.

High School is not playing such a strenuous schedule this season. Instead of 34 or 35 games the total number is 28. There are only two Tuesday clashes and having been played last evening with Latrobe.

Scottsdale comes here early this year being scheduled for January 21.

Bradford maintained a perfect record in the two let us games played by it so far winning from No. 10 yesterday 32-30. Now it came back in the second half after being on the short end of a 2-10 score.

The Y. M. C. A. Seniors will play the Fayette Baking five of Connellsville at Dickerson Run Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday, January 10. A preliminary game between the Y. M. C. A. girls and St. Vincent girls of Lees ending will be played.

MARINES BUILD STADIUM FROM WASTE

Air Photograph of Huge New Athletic Bowl at Quantico

Built entirely of waste and donated material and without cost to the taxpayers of the country, a stadium which will rival any other athletic field in approaching completion at the United States Marine Corps base at Quantico, Va., was used for the first time November 11.

So quickly has work on the big structure progressed few persons outside of the marine corps have heard of the unique project. Secretary Don by took occasion to call attention to it to praise the spirit of the men at the Quantico base who under Brig. Gen. Snedden's leadership are making it a reality and to point out that the stadium is being built by the marines in honor of the marine dead of all years.

Spurred by victory
Victory of the Quantico football team in the first import game with a military team—the contest with Georgetown—has led to have strengthen and the determination of the marines to complete the stadium. This is hoped for by the evening of the 1934 football season as approximately 75 per cent of the work is already done.

The stadium is being built in a natural amphitheater to be built by the marines. The first task of the marines who are doing the work after the regular duties of the station are completed consisted in changing the course of the stream. When finished the stadium will be over the stream which will run through a conduit beneath the playing field. The ends of the amphitheater have been closed this task involving the moving of more than 150,000 cubic yards of earth. The stadium proper will be 610 feet long and 322 feet wide.

The site of which there will eventually be 100,000 men being built of concrete upon the sides of the hill. The cement was donated by a number of large firms dealing in that material, and the iron rails to reinforce it were obtained from waste dumps and supplies of condemned war materials. Approximately 35,000 of the seats will have individual plates each bearing the name of a marine who lost his life in the line of duty. A memorial will form the entrance to the stadium.

Little Money Spent

Necessary expenditure of money which to date has amounted to less than $1,000 has been met through apportionment from the recreation fund of the base. This fund accumulates from sales at the camp store. Marine officers estimate that the stadium, when completed will represent a cost of $500,000 had the work been done by private contractors.

KAW DIDN'T PLAY IN COLUMBUS GAME

Surprise and indignation were expressed in Cornell athletic circles at published reports from Columbus, O. that Capt. Eddie Kaw Cornell's brilliant leader and halfback, had participated in a charity benefit game there between teams of Western and Eastern stars, says an instant dispatch to the New York World-Kaw was described as having played a "wonderful game."

As a matter of fact, Kaw was in New York while the game was in progress and never had any intention of going to Columbus. After the Thanksgiving day victory over Penn which closed his college football career, Kaw went to New York and spent Friday and Saturday with his parents, arriving in Ithaca on Sunday morning.

The whole story was a fake. Kaw is busy with his book. He probably will make his first appearance in athletics at Cornell on next spring's baseball team. The photograph shows Kaw shaking hands with Pop Miller, captain of the Penn team.
